

Weaving is a common folk art around the world. Different cultures have different styles of weaving, special patterns, and special uses for woven textiles. Knowledge of the craft is passed down through families of weavers. They integrate Lithuanian symbolism and motifs into sashes, table linens, and other cloths to decorate traditional costumes or the home.

This girl, dressed in traditional costume, is playing the chordophone, or zither.

We hope you have enjoyed learning about Lithuania this week. For more art, music, bacon buns, or "krustai," check out these local resources!
